FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

At Morehead.

During the intervals music was discoursed by the Morehead string band.

Within a few minutes the deposits amounted to $15,000 and the president said he expected them to reach $30,000 during the day. (The stationery for this bank was printed by our ADVOCATE PUP. Co.)

The writer was the guest of Mrs. Will Young for dinner at Hotel Osborne and left on the 12:54 for Lexington where he spent the afternoon on business.

We close by extending our best wishes.

The Mt. Sterling people present were Mrs. Amelia Young, A. T. Wood, A. W. Sutton and the writer.

We have often requested that religious items concerning the various churches be given by some one of the congregation who knows. If anything of special importance is to occur or has occurred we would be pleased to know it and we usually try to find out. We have heard of criticisms being made the ADVOCATE has more news concerning the Baptist and Christian Churches than of others. This should be easily understood. If a man has a sweet-heart or a wife he is supposed to love, know more of and associate with his own more than he does with the sweet-heart or wife of the other man. Now dear brethren and sisters possess your souls in peace, and give to us a helping hand filled with church news.

Welcome.

Prof. Milton Elliott and family arrived at North Middletown last week. He has assumed charge of the K. C. & B. College and will be ready for the fall term. An educator of experience, a cultured Christian gentleman he comes again to central Kentucky. As such we welcome him.

Good, thorough work will be done, at very cheap rates: Board, washing, lights, fuel, tuition and music ten months $20.00. Address him for further information.

Too Warm for Fitzpatrick.

A Jackson, Ky., dispatch says: Burns Fitzpatrick, who hung the jury that tried Jett and White here for the murder of Marcus, has gone to Jackson county, his neighbor in Magallon county making it so hot for him that he could not live there. He had lived in Magallon but a short time.

Near Cahey in Morgan county, Robert Keeton, step-son of Farish Arnett, was killed by Samuel Brown.

Alum Baking Powders.

There are so many alum baking powders about, most of which are represented to be made of cream of tartar, that the following list of powders in which chemists have found alum will be of value:

BON BON,

1900,

SWEETHEART.

The housekeeper should bear in mind that alum makes a cheap baking powder. It costs but two cents a pound, while cream of tartar costs thirty. The quality of the powder, is, therefore, usually indicated by the price.

From Abroad.

LETTER NO. XXI.

JERICHO AND JORDAN NO. 2.

JERICHO, March 11, 1903.

Dear Judge: Where I crossed in a boat the Jordan is about 150 feet wide and fifteen feet deep. It is an exhilarating retreat from the dust and heat of a sunburnt plain, for a weary pilgrim seeking rest and cool, refreshing shade on the swift and eddying waters. Its evergreen belt of jungle, and trees whose overhanging branches are washed by the hurrying stream, the sudden bends in its serpentine course, the swirl of its swirling eddies swashing against the tortuous banks, the incessant play of color through the variegated walls of verdure and upon the brown and turbid waters, are some of the features that lend romantic charm to a stay upon its restless bosom. The sycamore-frog whose horizontal limbs attracted little Zacheus, the "reed shaken with the wind" (Matt. 11:7), growing twelve feet tall in dense, extensive brakes amongst poplars, willows, tamarisks, acacias and gorgeous oleanders, and multitudes of brilliant flowers, are some varieties of vegetation that adorn this strange landscape that lies a thousand feet below the ocean level. In this deep trench of 85 miles from Galilee to the Dead Sea, the busy Jordan winds its way 100 miles and pours its fresh, cool waters into that crystal sea of salt.

This is the famed baptismal river, the like of which no other land has ever known. Naaman, the Syrian warrior washed away his deadly leprosy. Elisha said to him: "Go bathe seven times in Jordan." When his fit of indignant rage subsided, he meekly "went down and dipped himself seven times in Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child"—2 Kings 5: 14.

Hither the great forerunner, John the Baptist, summoned "Jerusalem and all Judea, and all the region round Jordan, and they were baptized by him in the river Jordan, confessing their sins"—Matt. 3: 5-6. But the deathless fame of this river rests upon the fact that Jesus himself was here baptized and, under the opened heavens and descending Spirit, was declared to be the Son of God.

"And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway from the water: and lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending as a dove, and coming upon him; and lo, a voice out of the heavens, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."—Matt. 3: 17. From that day Jordan has been as sacred to the Christian as a mother's grave, and myriads yearly seek baptism in its consecrated waters.

The setting sun has spread over me the shadowy mantle of Quaran-tania. I turn to look again upon the desolation of those demonic peaks and rifted rocks, where the battle of Satan with our gentle, loving Christ raged for forty days and nights. Facing again the east, fantasy recalls to those mountain monuments of Moses the vanished form of one, who, in a far off age, fought and lost on the heights over against Jericho. The real field of strife was the soul of a giant man where greed and conscience struggled for mastery—and greed won. This pitiless and majestic man was the most noted and eloquent preacher of his century. All the churches wanted him, except the narrow minded set of unprogressive refugees whom Moses had led out of Egypt. The rudeness and intolerance of the Mosaic church had excited the hostility of all the liberal and cultured people and churches round about them. In fact, ever since they "were baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea," they had become illiberal and exclusive—a discordant element in the religious world and an invincible obstacle to religious co-operation. Hitherto there had arisen but one great leader amongst them with liberal tendencies inclined to open communion. He was the most eloquent man the denunciation had produced, and was able to lead the common people into a union service and communion with a branch of the church and liberal calf church of Egypt. But some of the old leaders came suddenly upon the scene, broke up the union service and summarily excluded 3,000 of the participants from their church.

Aaron saved himself only by sudden show of penitence and confession. This was the sect of exclusives against whom King Balak united Moab and Midian and invoked the eloquence of the illustrious evangelist, the son of Boor, whose home was far away at Pethor by the great river that used to water the garden of Eden. The first embassy failed to make terms with the great preacher. A second commission, composed of princes of the royal blood and bearing golden credentials, was more successful. The great talker came. The infection of his eloquence reached the very heart that conveyed him to the scene of service. In those queer old days it required more glittering ceremony to install a great preacher in his evangelistic pulpit than to inaugurate two or three kings. Headless palm leavers and banner-bearers; choristers, horn blowers, billposters and stirrups—all selected from the highest dignitaries of the kingdom. Balak, the son of Zippor, had anticipated all these indispensable prerequisites for a sweeping success. The august preacher was thus conducted to an eminence overlooking the camp of Israel, where, all unconscious of the impending peril preparing to unlock his jaws on Pisgah, Moses and Joshua with the millions of Israel slept amongst the fragrant acacias. Balak and the flower of Moab and Midian stood all expectant. This mighty wizard of the tongue was to convert or stampede with incurable panic; paralyze or disperse this impudent and arrogant sect, and play his invincible hoodoo upon all the enemies of the Church of Balak. They conducted him to the gorgeous pulpit. What must have been the surprise and chagrin of Balak when the mighty evangelist turned disdainfully from the elaborate pulpit, and with a sweet and sanctified haughtiness that won the ladies and shriveled Balak and his court said: Do you take me to be a one-barrel preacher? It must be understood here and now that I am a seven-shooter, and unless you hustle and prepare seven pulpits, this meeting ends right here before it begins. Everybody realized at once the appalling blunder of Balak, and in a short time seven elegant pulpits shed their splendor on Pisgah. For some reason the old electric sermons revamped to fit the new theology did not produce the expected result. The meeting was a flat failure. But for a consideration the Mesopotamian preacher gave counsel to Balak that wrought temporary disaster in the Mosaic Church. He said: No eloquence or argument can break through the impregnable prejudice of this sect so sodden with ignorance and superstition; but they are weak on the social side. Entrust this campaign to me and the society women, and Israel will soon fall before you. The innocent persuasions of your my eloquence and enchantment. A few perfumed cards, a few innocent eucharistic parties, a few innocent parlor dances, and then let loose the dancing girls and the champagne upon them, and the men will fall by thousands.

Read the 22nd and 23rd chapters of Numbers. For the fate of the preacher read Numbers 31: 8.

Amongst the more stringent sects and their preachers there has always been a lingering prejudice against this ill fated preacher and his methods. You might note 2 Peter 2: 15; Jude 2: 11 and Revelation 2: 14.

The Jericho of Herod visited by Christ was situated a mile south of this mound of Rahab's city, at the mouth of the abyssal cleft where flows the brook Cherith. This is the friendly chasm that gave shelter and water to Elijah while the ravens furnished food, and beneath its stones at its mouth Achan and his family found an ignominious sepulcher. Here, where the abundant waters of the mountains flow and the ascent to Jerusalem begins, rose the magnificent Jericho of Herod. Vast towers and fortresses, gorgeous palaces and beautiful mansions and villas, colonnades, statuary, fountains, and wild exuberance of brilliant tropical vegetation made this a city of splendor. On one side towered the variegated mountains that led up to "Jerusalem the Golden," on the other waved a vast forest of stately palms, extending eight miles along the Jordan from the Dead Sea. About it flourished the priceless balsam, the precious and fragrant henna, the unbragous fig-sycamore, and all the precious fruits and brilliant flowers of almost every zone. To the eastern gate of this wonderful city came Jesus on his last journey to Jerusalem. The inevitable blind beggar sitting by the wayside cried for mercy and received his sight. Within the gates along the pillared and embellished streets occurred the jeweled episode of Zacheus, and to the brightened home of the publican and sinner came the ineffable joy of the Light that never fades and the Life that never ends. Again the steadfast march to Golgotha is resumed, and just beyond western gate, the son of Timeus, roused by the roar of the tramping thousands, raised the blind man's current cry. Son of David have mercy on me! Quickly the simple word of the compassionate Christ bore to his long famished eyes the sweet light of the Syrian sky. A short distance beyond, our Lord's death journey was again arrested by the same piteous cry from two more sightless beggars, whose eyes were healed by a compassionate touch, and they, too, joined the shouting multitude that bore him onward to the tomb.

How strange that these simple stories of sight restored should have entangled the pious pens of commentators in endless perplexity. With hundreds of cases omitted and these three recorded, yet every expositor I can now recall, vainly tries to reduce the three to one.

At the Hotel—Darkness has settled on plain and mountain. I borrowed an old Shiek's robe, turban and arms, and went forth in the night to explore. The hark and piercing wail of the jackal greeted me on the plain. I could almost hear the swish of the long, bushy tail that tempted the humorous ingenuity of Samson. The vicious screams of the hyena greeted me from the mountain gorge above.

The dread of his fascinating eye keeps every native close in tent or hut at night. A native Quaker preacher told me the hyena charmed the traveler in the night and led him to his lair. There is nothing the peasant dreads so much as the spell of his shining eyes. He will spring over the shoulder from behind, brushing his hair against the victim's cheek, and confronting him, star his path with his glittering eyes.

Beneath my window rises the white tent that shelters for the night two great and noble saints—Dr. B. B. and Sarah Tyler, of Denver, Colorado. A few rods beyond the gate an old friend gives pleasant greeting to my reminiscent eyes—the old adobe cabin that last year sheltered Mary Tibbs and two of the noblest women of earth, one a great Bible teacher of New York, the other a teacher in a Brooklyn school. By the generous partiality of Miss Helen Gould, whose gentle and unobscured virtues win the admiration and love of all who know her, the hopes and prayers of years were realized in the comprehensive cruise of the Celtic with supplementary side trips through Palestine, Egypt and Europe.

W. T. TIBBS.

Good afternoon, Mrs. — I am pleased to see you. This is charming weather. Out for a stroll? Perfectly lovely. I am invited to the card party, and hope I will get first prize. Ha! Ha!

FOR WORK.

Next week the Press of Kentucky will meet at Lexington. The members of this organization should make good use of their time. Steps should be taken looking to an equity arrangement based on a subscription list, for all advertising, local and foreign. With keen perception the lines should be drawn between the advertising and the news item, methods should be adopted by which the local and daily press would be enabled to get news from all parts of the country, fresh and at a reasonable cost. The Advertising Law should have due consideration, the question of postage should be handled with great care, by committees vigilant of our interests. There are many other things to be considered and though a great number may wish to get off on the much-to-be-desired sight seeing trip, the body should not allow this to detract from their business interests.

TOO BAD

For the Republicans, that peace has been fully restored in Democratic ranks. In the Lexington and Louisville troubles matters have been fully adjusted by majority rule. Republicans had longed for a disruption beyond control of party leaders. They had talked it, magnified it, making mountains out of mole hills, and now with skies clear it will be for them to carry out their business to work upon the feeling of individuals in the minority, hoping to cool party ardor and to gain their influence for their State nominee. In this they will be ineffective because the committeemen of the minority as well as majority are profound Democrats and are wise enough to see the game of their scheming opponents. State Democracy is again free of divisions and it remains for the people to follow the action of their leaders in November election. They will do it.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The ladies of the Somerset church realized $44.15 from the social given Saturday night. They served 28 gallons of cream.

The C. W. B. M. will on Thursday evening give a social at the residence of J. G. Trimble. Refreshments will be served.

Miss Emma Thompson entertained in honor of her guests, Misses Thompson and Lancaster, of Louisville, last Thursday evening.

Stanley Thomas entertained the Spencer Film Club on the evening of July 4, his birthday. It was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The ice cream and cake were delicious. The music was splendid. We sincerely hope Stanley will not forget the club on his next birthday.

Settled.

The Democratic State Central Committee, in session at Frankfort, settled all troubles by the passing of the following resolution, and from this time on Louisville will see it that all candidates are treated fairly:

Whereas, There are two committees in the city of Lexington, each claiming to be the legally authorized Democratic Committee of said city, therefore,

"Resolved, That both of said Committees are hereby removed and the following persons named and recommended by T. T. Hedger, State Central Committee from Seventh Congressional district, be and same are declared the Democratic Committee of the city of Lexington.

"Be it further resolved, That the present Democratic prelate committee heretofore appointed by John W. Vreland, State Central Committee for the Fifth district, for the city of Louisville, be and the same are now hereby approved and confirmed, and that said committee be so appointed and approved shall so constitute the Democratic Committee in and for said city."

S. W. Hager was made Chairman of Campaign Committee, and H. R. Prewitt of 10th Congressional Committee.

Accident to Warehouse.

I. F. Tabb's new business house, although unfinished, has been used for the storing of wheat. Only a few thousand bushels had been placed on the first floor. On Saturday the brick pier in the basement crumbled under the weight and the first floor, back of the office, for a distance of probably 50 feet, sank in the center to the basement floor, this caused the second and third floors to sink some. Slight damage was done to some of the girders, and the joists were pulled from the walls, but the walls were not injured. The contractors at once began the removal of wheat preparatory to raising the floor for placing substantial pillars. The most serious loss to Mr. Tabb is the delay. It is hoped that the defect will be repaired by Thursday night.

Dr. J. W. Carter, of Emma Texas, in renewing his subscription says: "I can not do without your paper. The moral standard of your paper and the fearless way of expressing your sentiments is very commendable and worthy many times the price."

Davidson presented the diploma.

From Cynthiana.

D. D. Hurst, father-in-law of J. B. Marcum, the murdered lawyer at Jackson, for which offense Curtis Jet and Frank White are arraigned, passed through here Monday returning from Cynthiana, where he had been to take steps to secure the attendance of Breathitt county witnesses. Mr. C. J. Little was appointed by Judge Osborn elder to serve legal process on witnesses both for the prosecution and defense, the defense protesting. The Judge said: "It shall be my business to get the witnesses to Cynthiana and before the Court. I believe from what I have read and heard of Mr. Little that he will do this. He can not prejudice the case one way or the other, and if either the State or defense want a man appointed who will not serve the process he is not the man I am looking for."

Mr. Hurst was pleased with the expressions of the Judge and will expect just and lawful rulings.

"Down in the human heart, crushed by the tempest, Footage lie buried that grace can restore, Touch'd by a loving hand, waken'd by kindness, Cord's that were broken will vibrate once more."

Have you and I done what we can that the hearts of our fellow friends are attuned to the higher and purer feelings in nature and in accord with the great plan of salvation? Begin now—it will pay.

So Had Skipped.

On Tuesday morning at 14 o'clock intruders aroused two families at the home of Judge Cassidy. One, if not two men, was heard for some minutes before an alarm was given. Mr. Trimble called up police headquarters. Mr. Shannon responded and sent a boy for night policeman R. F. Mastin, who in a few minutes came through the alley and rear entrance, having been notified to come in that way hoping to intercept the prowler. Mr. Trimble had by going onto the rear porch, and also ringing telephone, evidently giving the intruder an opportunity to escape through the garden and east front yard. A search by Trimble, Mastin and —, who accompanied the policeman, failed to discover anyone. We wish this publicly to thank these gentlemen for their kindness and discharge of duty in trying to protect the property of our citizens. We know that policemen often expose their lives in preserving the peace and guarding the property of a community, and if the people do not stand by them and protect them, there is but little encouragement for them to do their duty. When they are in the right, they may expect our sympathy and co-operation.

Let everyone go to work to do his or her part to the end that the coming Williams-Hicks meeting may be a blessing to our community, in that the saved may be strengthened and made more useful, the sinner converted and God glorified.

A Jackson Paper Makes Some Suggestions to Judge Redwine About the Special Term.

We see from the daily papers that Judge Redwine says that he feels it to be his duty to preside at the special session of the Circuit Court here July 20. It must be admitted that the present bad state of affairs in Breathitt county has grown up under Judge Redwine's administration. We would be glad to see him redeem himself and restore order and guarantee protection to life and property in the proper way, but we doubt if he could do so now were he
to try ever so hard.

If he intends to make up the special grand jury from the names
now in the jury wheel, the special term had as well be called off now and save further expense to the State. There are plenty of good men in this county who would make good jury commissioners and good jurors. The Circuit Judge appoints the jury commissioners; he is, therefore, responsible for the makeup of the juries. The people of this county know what kind of juries
we have had for the past several years, and they know who have selected them. We have no right to expect a better jury to be drawn from the names now in the jury wheel that we had at the last term.

If Judge Redwine wants to protect life and property and restore order here, let him appoint an honest man for elisor and let him summon a grand jury of honest, upright and fearless men who will do their duty though the heavens fall.
Let him keep this jury in session long enough to go to the bottom of the trouble here and indict all the guilty parties and transfer all the cases outside of this district for trial where justice can be meted out to all parties. When he does this we will believe that he is in earnest about restoring law and order. The law abiding citizens of this county and State will not be satisfied with a mere perfunctory court. The law is supreme and must be enforced.
The eyes of the whole country are upon us. Let the officers of the law do their whole duty in enforcing the law.—The News.

Spider in Bread.

At Gainesville, Ga., Miss Mary
Stevens and her little nephew,
James Smith, are dead and three other persons are seriously ill as a result of eating bread in which a large spider had been kneaded.
Miss Stevens and her nephew soon
died in great agony.

The bread was examined, and particles of a huge spider were found scattered through it. The cook confessed that while she was kneading the dough the spider was worked in it by accident. The dough stood over night, and physicians say that the delay in cooking resulted in the dough becoming thoroughly impregnated with the spider's venom.

Marriage a Serious Matter.

Efforts to impress upon the minds of young people that marriage is a serious matter are not always successful. Louisiana, however, has taken an advanced step in that direction. Her Legislature at its last session passed an act punishing by imprisonment at hard labor those husbands who desert their wives or fail to support them. The act was thought to be unconstitutional, but the Supreme Court has decided that it is valid. So, before getting married, the young men of Louisiana will have to count the cost and
of the penitentiary.

Diversion from domestic and business cares is all right, if free
from hurtful influences.

Here is one case of it:

John Black, now retired, residing at the corner of Clay and Elm st's, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a good medicine and I have no hesitation in saying that if anyone who may be suffering with any of the complaints for which they are recommended will give them a good,
fair trial they will be benefited.
For some years I was subject to attacks of rheumatism or lumbago in my hips, legs and in my shoulders. At times the pain would be so severe in these parts that I could scarcely be able to get around, and there was also a difficulty with the kidney secretions which was an almost constant irritation. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at F. C. Duerson's drug store and although I did not give them a fair trial, not taking them as regularly as the directions called for, I can from the good effects
I noticed say that I think highly of the merits of this remedy."

To Take Charge of the Person and Property of the "Old Lion
of White Hall."

"We the jury, find that Gen. C.
M. Clay is of unsound mind and incapable of attending to his business in a judicial way."

The foregoing verdict in the trial of Gen. Cassius M. Clay was rendered on Wednesday, July 8, in the Madison county Court, after a trial lasting a little over two hours.

Gen. Clay, who is confined in his room at White Hall, was not able to appear in court.

After the verdict of the jury was read the Judge appointed a committee to take charge of the estate and see that the invalid was properly cared for.

Banker J. M. McKnight, of Louisi-

his life for the next six years.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat camp stock feed any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock feed. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver.
It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and I will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh.
And here lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, bush and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

MT. STERLING, KY.

THE SOUTHWEST.

By W. L. Williamson, Mount N. Texas.

The coast country of Texas is a limited area extending from the Sabine River on the east to Corpus Christi on the west, averaging about 50 miles wide, and until a few years ago thought to be good for nothing but the grazing of cattle—a section, today, whose wonderful productiveness, genial, healthful climate, progress and development, is unknown to the general public, and with a future that cannot be told. The balmy breeze from the Gulf of Mexico brings health and comfort; the fertile soil, property to the inhabitants.

Winter in the coast country is more in name than a reality—occasionally a severe frost, preceded by a cool wind from the North, is the only reminder of winter, which is scarcely felt by even the tender plants. In summer the weather is without noticeable variation. The evenness of temperature makes it possible for the farmer to work out of doors nearly every day in the year, and stock to thrive without the expensive shelter and feed as in the North. Sunstroke is unknown; average temperature 65°.

This delightful climate, evenness of temperature and salt laden atmosphere, are a certain relief to sufferers of asthma, catarrh, hay fever, etc.—periodical fevers entirely absent. The water is pure and abundant. No sand storms, high winds and cyclones touch this favored section.

The schools are a special feature of Texas—with a fund of $84,000, 000 every facility is offered. Churches of every denomination are seen on every hand. Society is as high order as any where in the Union, and a more congenial, social people, never settled in any country.

The Tax Rate about 97¢ cents on the $100 being the fourth lowest in the U. S.

The land is level, just rolling enough to drain well; the soil of various colors from the light chocolate to the black clay, and of the most fertile. The abundant crops raised on this virgin soil stagger the farmer of the North whose high priced lands produce crops paying from $ to $25 per acre, and after seeing will hardly believe his own eyes. What is raised in the Coast Country? Everything—corn, oats, rye, hay, rice; all kinds of fruits and vegetables. Every month something can be planted. Early vegetables grown for the Northern market mature two to three weeks earlier than in any other section; they command the highest price. The very best facilities to market the products are offered by 16 railroads and various steamship lines. The world is the market. Thriving towns and cities of the most modern type are springing up as by magic, and the thrifty farmers of the North are leaving their high priced lands and disagreeable climate, settling in the Coast Country and by their endeavor are making it blossom as the rose, and with a profit for their labor beyond their expectation. Houston is in the center of this beautiful country, a city of 80,000 with 16 railroads, and factories and foundries. Progress is the watchword—her streets alive with all kinds of business—the ultimate deep water port of the southwest, the Government spending one million dollars dredging Buffalo Bayou, that ocean ships will land at her gates, affording a direct outlet for her cotton, rice, lumber, sugar, wheat etc. to the world. These are a few things which insure the future prosperity and greatness of the Coast Country, which tell you that these wonderfully productive plains which now can be bought at 10 to $20 per acre, will in a few years leap to $50 and $100 and even higher because the crops taken off justify and demand it. That's why the opportunity to the home-seeker and investor is so great and certain and worthy the consideration of all who want to own their own home. It's the very best way to insure a home for your family.

Rice is a most profitable crop. The land is prepared and the grain drilled same as wheat. Around the field, with a plow is thrown up a levee or ridge about like a sweet potato ridge. In some sections, a well can be bored about 50 feet deep, a centrifugal pump and engine installed, with which to irrigate the crop, or, when located near a canal water can be secured from it. When the rice is about 8 inches high the water is put on the field to a depth of 2 inches and kept there for 70 days when the grain begins to turn yellow like wheat the levee or ridge is cut and the water drains off. In 7 to 10 days the ground is sufficient dry to go in with the binder and cut the rice which is handled and threshed same as wheat, and sold to the rice mills. It costs approximately $10 an acre to equip a rice field and raise the first crop. The average yield is about 15 barrels per acre and brings an average of $3 per barrel. A larger per cent raises from 15 to 25 barrels and for the better grades realize 3.50 to $5 per barrel. The renter usually makes enough to buy his own farm after the 1st or 2nd year. To buy these lands in the summer a crop of hay, averaging 1 to 2 tons per acre can be cut. In October the same land put in oats will yield 80 to 90 bushels per acre and cut in April, and put the same land in rice, making 3 crops in one year. There is no such thing as raising rice on low marshy land in Texas. All the lands are rolling and drained well.

Wedding Anniversary.

Thursday, July 9th, children, sons-in-law, nephews and cousins assembled at the country home of Allen Prewitt, the occasion being the thirty sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Prewitt. There is a beautiful Bluegrass house. Ornamental and shade trees, rare flowers and potted plants served as decorations, while the birds went from limb to twig warbling notes of praise, and to the thought it would be only a little fanciful to say he was an invited guest and contributed his part in making the day the more enjoyable. To look out and over the broad acres of bluegrass, dark-hued growing corn, into bins well filled with rich harvest, and away from the favored material into happy faces of parents, children and kindred, only the heart of stone could suppress the glorious, soul-inspiring hymn, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." The company entered into the joys of the occasion that made all happy.

My these good people with joys undimmed pass many an anniversary corner, to the golden, the diamond, with beautiful silver locks, and all the while under favored skies. The elegant dinner was served in the yard under the heavy foliage of trees of Mr. Prewitt's own planting. Among those present we note the following: Seven children, Henry R. Marcus A. Richard R. Mrs. Florence Jackson and Mrs. Jack McChord of Winchester; Mrs. C. T. Evans and Miss Julia, ten grand-children, Hon. Casswell Prewitt and family, Clifton Prewitt and family, N. H. Young and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Prewitt Young, Dr. Brown and family, of Winchester, (his wife being Miss Clay Prewitt, niece of Mr. Allen Prewitt), Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins, of Lexington, and a number of young people, friends of Miss Julia.

Trip South.

Friday night returned home on a night train from Memphis where he had been for three weeks looking after his large real estate interest in that city. While absent he partook of the hospitality of his brother Frank for a week, at his cotton plantation known as "Callio" 150 miles below Memphis in Washington county, Miss., fronting five miles on the east side of Sunflower river a tributary of the Yazoo. It is about 100 feet wide and navigable for steam boats at all seasons of the year. He says that country is the sportsman's paradise, as good fishing and hunting can be found in every direction. The river and neighboring lakes furnish large quantities of the finest fish, as speakeas from experience, and the forest abounds with a great many deer, a few bear and a bountiful supply of wild turkeys and ducks. His brother's farm of 1425 acres is for sale at $30 per acre, 1050 acres of which is in cultivation and is regarded as the cheapest farm in the delta, also has 3,000 acres adjoining unimproved and heavy timber at $10 per acre. Last week in the counties of Bolivar and Ledford, Miss., in addition to the purchases heretofore made, his firm contracted for 7,000 acres, the soil of which is of inestimable value, and never overflows and he thinks the "Delta of Mississippi" offers greater inducements to capitalists for profitable investments than any country he ever saw. Some of the best unimproved farming land in the world can be purchased at from $7 to $10 per acre.

Fit and Style!

There are some things which can't be improved. One of these things is the "QUEEN QUALITY" Shoe for women. You can make it more elaborate, you can decorate it, embellish it, use costly materials and all that. But for $100 a pair than "QUEEN QUALITY" having relied solely to the two great essentials of FIT and STYLE. This means that mechanically it is perfect. As for its appearance, the fact that one hundred thousand women choose it instantly above all other shoes would seem to indicate that it is attractive. Why don't you go as far as to try on a pair the next time you go to the store? It costs nothing to see them fit your foot.

You Cannot Make a Better Shoe

Boots, $3.00. Oxfords, $2.50. Fast-color Euclets used exclusively.

Beginning with next Sunday the B. Y. P. U. of the Mt. Sterling Baptist Church will meet at 6:30 o'clock.

Rev. R. M. Lee will preach at Cambridge on Sunday, July 19, at 11 o'clock, instead of the following Sunday, his regular appointment.

The Baptist pastor, W. J. Bolin will occupy his pulpit at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning. The subject of the sermon will be "The Upward Look." Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Society which was announced to meet at the home of Mrs. J. D. Harper on Thursday evening of this week, has been called off. Rev. Abbott, the pastor,

When it was commonly agreed that there was to be a slaughter of prices on goods in our line in Mt. Sterling. We did not have to lock ourselves up to keep our pinions from carrying us up into the realm of self-conceit. Then, like in all other things,

We were Bold, Open and to the Front,

And when the signal was given to start

WE DID NOT HAVE TO GET OUT REVISED PRICES TO MEET COMPETITION!

We set the pace and left the revising for others. By the way, we think our competitors think we sell extra good goods, because some them beg the parties from whom we buy to sell them the same goods, to which we sometimes agree, provided we receive royalty.

Our motto is now, and has always been,

Stand by Every Representation Made!

On this basis we defy competition to show the increase in business we have had during the last five years.

We are in This Sale to Lead!
